First Steps (Love and Rockets Book 1) Sophia Thomas

For centuries, nations have scrambled for power all across the world. They have vied for military, diplomatic and economic strength, for the right to be called a superpower and hold the entire globe in their grasp. In the middle of the 20th century, everything changed. The old orders lost their grip, crippled by war and their own stagnant empires.

Now, as the world revolves slowly towards the 1960's, three emergent powers take to a new battlefield. Space is finally within humanities reach, the dreams of many are on the verge of being fulfilled. America, fresh from conflict in the Pacific, Germany, still recovering from it's ill-fated dance with fascism in the 40's, and the Soviet Union all look to the skies with one goal in mind.

The Space Race has begun.
