Franklin D. Roosevelt and Hyde Park: Personal Recollections of Eleanor Roosevelt (1949) Eleanor Roosevelt

Introduction excerpt:

The Hudson River Valley was in my husband's blood. Franklin Delano Roosevelt's family owned land in and around Poughkeepsie and along the banks of the Hudson River for four generations, but even before that his Roosevelt ancestors lived just a bit farther down the Hudson River. His mother's father built a home near Newburgh, N. Y., and she grew up there; so the river in all of its aspects and the countryside as a whole were familiar and deeply rooted in my husband's consciousness.

Franklin Roosevelt was born in the old house at Hyde Park, which has since been changed somewhat, and modernized. All of his childhood was spent in the nursery on the third floor, so that from the windows he overlooked the fields and the woods between the house and the river.
